Purposes of data processing

Amprion independently builds and operates electricity transmission systems to comply with its duties to expand and operate the grid.

We only ever collect and use your personal data to the extent that this is necessary to fulfil our tasks.

The processing of personal data is lawful if we have obtained your consent to such processing under Article 6(1) a) of the EU General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR).

The processing of personal data which is necessary for the performance of a contract is lawful under Article 6(1) b) GDPR.

This also applies to processing which is necessary prior to entering into a contract. The processing of personal data necessary for compliance with a legal obligation to which our company is subject is lawful under Article 6(1) c) GDPR.

Processing which is necessary for the purposes of the legitimate interests pursued by our company or by a third party, except where such interests are overridden by the interests or fundamental rights and freedoms of the data subject, is lawful under Article 6(1) f) GDPR.

Categories of personal data

Categories of personal data may, for example, be:

Name, address, contact data, e-mail address, telephone number, dates of birth, land parcel data

Sources of personal data

Sources of personal data may, for example, be:

Commercial data portals (data provided as a service), authorities charged with the reallocation and consolidation of land, cadastral offices, registries, tax offices, land registries

Transfer to third parties

Your data may be made available to departments within the company which require such data for the purposes referred to above. This also applies to service providers and agents in performance engaged by us. We only transmit personal data to third parties if this is necessary for the purpose referred to above or if you have granted your consent. Order processors are integrated subject to the provisions of Article 28 GDPR.

The recipients of personal data may, for example, be:

Planning and engineering offices, experts, construction companies, public authorities, courts, notary offices, network operators

Transfer to a third country

In compliance with the stipulations of Chapter 5 GDPR, personal data are only transferred to countries outside the European Economic Area or to an international organisation if this is necessary for the performance of the contract, in order to take steps prior to entering into a contract, if such transfer is prescribed by law or if you have given us your consent.

Period of data storage

Your personal data will be erased as soon as the reasons for which they have been stored no longer apply.

Personal data may also be stored if required by European or national laws, European Union regulations, laws or other legal provisions to which we are subject in our function as controller. Data are also erased if a period of storage stipulated in the stated norms expires, unless the data must continue to be stored for the purpose of entering or fulfilling a contract.

Right to information, right to rectification, restriction of processing, erasure, objection and revocation of consent, portability

You are entitled to receive information about the personal data stored on you, about its source and recipients as well as the purpose for which it is being stored. You can require us to correct or erase your data or restrict its processing if the data are objectively incorrect or processing is not (or no longer) permissible. Processing may also be restricted if Amprion GmbH no longer requires the data except for the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims. If we have processed your data after weighing up competing interests, you are entitled to object to such processing. You have the right to revoke your declaration of consent under data protection law at any time. This does not affect the lawfulness of processing up to the time of revocation. You also have the right to data portability. Please use the contact data below if you wish to exercise these rights.

Right to lodge a complaint with a supervisory authority

Without prejudice to any other administrative or judicial remedy, you have the right to lodge a complaint with a supervisory authority, in particular in the Member State of your habitual residence, place of work or place of the alleged infringement if you consider that the processing of personal data relating to you infringes the GDPR.

How to lodge a complaint

The State Commissioner for the Protection of Data and Freedom of Information in North-Rhine Westphalia, Germany (Landesbeauftragte für Datenschutz und Informationsfreiheit, Nordrhein-Westfalen)

Kavalleriestraße 2–4

Need for provision of personal data

The provision of personal data, for the purpose of establishing, performing and fulfilling a contract or with regard to fulfilment of pre-contractual measures, is not subject to either legal or contractual requirements. This means that you are not required to provide us any personal data. It should be noted, however, that information must be provided for the purpose of taking pre-contractual measures and the decision to establish and perform a contract. It may not be possible to take decisions about contractual measures if no personal data have been provided. We therefore advise you only to provide the personal data which is necessary for pre-contractual measures and for the purpose of establishing and performing the contract.
